Site Update

Summer 2019

Thank you, Site Coordinators

Maine Ranks #1

78% of Maine families read to their children four days a week or more, the highest percentage in the United States. By collectively giving over 160,000 books each year to Maine children and counseling families to read-aloud, you've played a large part in making Maine a state where parents read to their children.

See more data specific to the wellbeing of Maine children on The Annie E. Casey Foundation's Kids Count Data Center website.

Quality Improvement Survey

Thank you for taking time out of your busy day to complete the 2019 Quality Improvement survey. Nearly 70% (!) of you responded. Raising Readers appreciates the continued feedback from you, the site coordinators and healthcare providers, who make the program possible.

Have an opinion about the new electronic survey? Let us know what you think. Send us an email at info@raisingreaders.org.

Clinical Advisor Updates

Long-time Raising Readers' Clinical Advisor, Dr. Colette Sabbagh, resigned in June. She is relocating with her family and joining a private practice in Virginia. We are beyond grateful for her service and counsel over the past 19 years.

We welcome Dr. Annie Powers, MD, PhD as the newest Raising Readers Clinical Advisor. As a practicing pediatrician at Northern Light Pediatric Primary Care and a mother of three children, Dr. Powers is excited to offer both perspectives to her Clinical Advisor role.
