Happy Birthday, Raising Readers!

3 Million Books

On January 29th, Dr. Steve DiGiovanni gave the 3 Millionth book, Baabwaa and Wooliam, at Maine Medical Partners Pediatric Clinic. Baabwaa and Wooliam's illustrator, Maine's own Melissa Sweet, joined the celebration too, officially kicking off the program's 20th Anniversary.

This special milestone wouldn't have been possible without you and those in your hospital or practice who share Raising Readers books with patients each day. Thank you!

Ways to celebrate with us:

- Enjoy your birthday box. By now, you should have received a celebratory parcel filled with anniversary goodies. It's our way of saying thank you for being a part of Raising Readers. Get in touch if you need more materials (available while supplies last).
- Share a Raising Readers memory from your hospital/office. We'd love to hear from you! Submit a story through this link or through our website.
- Follow us on social media. Throughout the year, we'll be sharing your stories (and others), announcing events, and showcasing books on Instagram, Facebook, and the Raising Readers blog.
- Visit our website. We'll be regularly updating celebratory events and content.
- Write a note to the Libra Foundation. Say 'thank you' for their continued funding and their support in making Raising Readers the only statewide health and literacy program of its kind in the U.S.
